PSALM 1

The good life belongs to those who can say 'no,'
who are not sucked in by sarcasm and sin,
but get their kicks from the Lord's law of love,
practising it by day and night.
Such people are like the vigorous vineyards
planted along the Riverland*,
immune to seasons of heat and drought
and yielding a rich vintage.
The godless don't have it so good;
they are like bulldust in the wind.
They cannot stand up to testing times,
nor find peace among loving friends.
Truly good people have their roots in God,
but the scoffers are rootless.
The Lord smiles on the good person's path,
but all the evil will come to ruin.

Reflections Luke 6: 17 – 26

In this passage from Luke, we hear Jesus teaching the beatitudes in a similar way to how Mathew records the event. The difference is the location. In Matthew, Jesus is up in the hills, "The sermon on the Mount," Luke tells us that Jesus has been up the hillside, but now he comes down to a level place.

Jesus has healed many people on this occasion, but now he's ready to teach. "He looks at his disciples" and began to teach, "Blessed are you who are poor..." "Blessed are you who are hungry..." "Blessed are you who weep now..." These words were not just cast out into the crowd. Jesus is looking at his special friends and speaking directly to them. He meant them to have an impact, especially on these people who are called to follow him.

I'm sure he was saying that these are some of the hardships they will encounter. They will be poor, and hungry and grieving, and people will be quick to reject them, and speak evil words about them.

He is warning those who choose to follow him that life is not going to be easy all the time... BUT when we choose to follow Him, we know that we are blessed.

We are blessed when we struggle, or people despise us, just because we follow Jesus. If you find that hard to believe, just shut your eyes and imagine Jesus speaking directly to you.

"Blessed are you who weep now, for you will laugh!" Rev May
