SUPPORTED BY  The Uniting Church in Australia
QUEENSLAND

A house is a place where we live, while a home is our dwelling place.

A house provides a roof, while a home provides a shelter.

A house is a place where we simply keep our belongings, while a home is where we truly belong.

A house is a place where the occupants can eat and sleep, while a home is where one gets nourishment and rest.

Jesus was welcomed into many homes. There is no greater joy than to realize that as we attend to our daily responsibilities and concerns, God is in our midst. Being aware of his presence can create an atmosphere of openness where everybody is welcome, not only those whom we consider as friends, but even the strangers as well, especially those who need our help and support.

Let us thank the Lord for enabling us the opportunity to provide these houses, we pray will become a home. May each house be a shelter in the midst of life's storms; may they be a place of nourishment of physical, emotional, psychological, and spiritual well-being; may each be a place to truly belong; a place to share the blessing of having a "home-sweet-home."

Reflection on Luke 15:1-10... God and the Lost!

Sometimes Jesus told stories to give us a better insight into the nature of God, and this is one of those times!

Those being heavily critical of Jesus, complained, "This fellow welcomes sinners!" And, so, in response, Jesus tells these two stories.

One of how a shepherd wouldn't rest until he'd found the one that was lost. God is just like that, says Jesus as he explains why he devoted his attention to those pushed to the margins of society.

It's a wonderful picture...this shepherd who goes out to look for the sheep that was lost, and then, when he finds it, he lovingly carries it back to safety on his strong, secure shoulders. Often, we feel that we are looking for God....and we lose heart. But it is really the other way round. He is continually looking for us. At times, we are in full flight from God....straying in high rebellion. He knows and follows us until we are found.

The irony of the story is that his critics didn't believe they too were lost and in need of being found. They are the religious, self- righteous people who resent the kind of people that Jesus welcomes. Maybe the worst sort of lost is when we don't realise that we are all sinners and in need of being found by our gracious God.

So, the parable is a message for both kinds of sinners....those who presume we have been found, that we are safe in the fold and those sinners who are still lost...who have yet to hear the saving words of the gospel in such a way that they know they have been found. It's all about being found....about God seeking us out, finding us, shouting to all who will hear "Come! Rejoice with me....my sheep which was lost has been found!"

Shalom, Jean

Somebody has said there are only two kinds of people in the world. There are those who wake up and say, "Good morning, Lord" and there are those who wake up and sigh "Good Lord, it's morning."
